Dear Mr. Weisberg:

Back from three months of lectruing, I only now have a respite in which to thank you for your good letter of February 15, which, in fact, was one of the first of what turned out to be many hundreds.

It qualifies you for a low number in the "pre-March Club," for, starting in March, support somehow became easier and more general.

Now, I think things are going well, America-wise if not CBS-wise. The House Ethics Committee, busy though it is with matters of greater moment, has asked to interview me. We won't go without a subpena, and even than have little to say. We wait, in good spirits, to see what happens.

Yours,

Daniel Schorr
